We have a story to tell about an exciting new project to Eastern Europe. Rotary District 589's Project Free Enterprise was a spinoff from our youth exchange activities in Eastern Europe. Houston had an exchange last summer with Hungary, East Germany, Moscow and Baku. It was our second year with Hungary, and we had been making overtures to the Soviet Union for over two years.

Utilizing our youth exchange contacts, we discussed how we could help the emerging economies and societies in Addrey - Newly Airport Eastern Europe and came up with a formal seminar by experienced business people on how to go into business and how to operate small and medium size businesses. It was agreed that this would be targeted to the general population and at little or no cost to them. And that the visiting seminar team would be hosted in Rotary homes while in their city.

> We proposed this Project Free Enterprise to several Rotary clubs, and finally settled on a 3-city tour in two weeks to Budapest, Warsaw and Torun, Poland.

The host Rotary clubs arrange for the lecture halls and translation and publicized the 2-day event to the general public.

The project was very successful not only in transferring substative business information to about 500 Eastern European citizens, but in elevating Rotary in the local community, as well as fostering more membership and interest in forming additional Rotary clubs.

The Free Enterprise team was asked if they could arrange for information on other topics and come back. From this we realized that this project can be broadened in concept to embrace any topic a community needs information on and which another Rotary District can find the expertise to speak about.

This kind of sharing of information has global applications whereby the people of the world can be empowered to engage in a dialogue to improve and advance communities under the auspices and guidance of Rotary.

We therefore are submitting to you an article about our Rotary Information Team idea, and a report that was handed out at a table clinic in Mexico City, and a copy of the albums from that table clinic, which give a selfdirected look at Project Free Enterprise.

Also enclosed are an assortment of photographs from which you may want to make a selection for the Rotary magazine. Please return the unused photos if possible.

Rajendra Saboo gave me a private meeting in Mexico City to report on this project and our Rotary Information Team idea and has a copy of the albums and reports. He indicated that one of his themes would be International cooperation and that this Information Team idea would be very useful to him.

Please contact me if there are any questions.

Yours in Ratary,

Dr. David Taylor
