

Scott.

I would like to nominate Eve Warnack and her four children for one of our awards. Eve is an Army veteran who returned from overseas duty with disability that makes finding work difficult. She is a hard worker but the stress of her service and being away from her children for such a long time has lingering effects. After she and her husband separated, she was unable to return to her US Army job as a mechanic, due to her responsibilities to the children.

She and her four children, Adrienne 15, Kayla 13, Joshua 10, and Kylie 8 are currently living with her sister and husband in a small house that leaves little room for personal privacy.

This award would give her options for re-establishing her life after her career serving her country.

Alan Wylie