TO BE A PAUL HARRIS FELLOW

published in The Rotarian Foundation News
March, 1979

Is a Paul Harris Fellow to be purchased or is it an honor to be awarded? Each year thousands of Rotarians face this question as they evaluate their commitment to support the programs of The Rotary Foundation. "To give a Paul Harris Fellow as an award is only one of many ways to contribute to the Foundation," said William Robbins, "it is not the sole intention behind the program." "The Rotarian who becomes a Fellow by contributing to the Foundation himself," continued Chairman Bill, "is making a personal expression of support to the Foundation in memory and honor of Rotary's founder, Paul P. Harris...he is not purchasing an award for himself. The individual who contributes to The Rotary Foundation or who gives of his time and talents is the one responsible for today's unprecedented accomplishments of the Foundation in promoting international understanding." Dr. Mohamed Fateen, a member of the Rotary Club of Cairo, Arab Republic of Egypt, captured the essence of the program by contributing US$1,000 in honor of his wife. Twenty-year-old John J. Zaleski, the son of a Rotarian from Seminole, Florida, U.S.A., gave US$1,000 to the Foundation, becoming the youngest person to contribute for his own Paul Harris Fellow. Using wages earned from a part-time job, John was convinced that supporting this proven and effective force for international understanding was the right thing to do. Contributions from Paul Harris Fellows represent a glorious past as well as the key to a future of expansion, improvement and continued effectiveness in fostering better understanding among all people. When you are ready, ask yourself, "Will I take advantage of the opportunity to support The Rotary Foundation through my contribution to become a Paul Harris Fellow?" Or, "Will the Foundation continue without my support?" Harry Lackey, a member of the Rotary Club of Montgomery, Alabama, U.S.A., asked himself these questions. His reply was, "I look at what I want to leave behind and one thing is to repay Rotary for the inspiration it gave me and, in a small way, to try and do some good for others less fortunate. To Be a Paul Harris Fellow is my selection!"

The following were presented Paul Harris Fellowships at our June 25th installation banquet. Please congratulate the following: JIM HARGROVE, CHARLES HARTMAN, MARGE JACOBSON, CAP LANDOLT, JIM MCNATT, CARLOS VILLAGOMEZ, BILL WESEMAN, BOB WREN!

"Wendell, you've got to do something about your mousey personality!"

"This is probably the kind that was used in the covered wagons."

HAHAHAHAHAHA....Two puppies watched a group of teenagers dancing. One turned to the other and said, "If we acted like that, someone would have us wormed!" The manager stood before a map on which colored pins indicated sales representatives in each area. "I am not going to fire you, Cartwright," he said, "but just to emphasize the insecurity of your position, I'm going to loosen your pin a little." Dad: "Here's an article that says a smart father is often a stumbling block to his son." Mom: "Thank goodness little Jimmy has nothing to worry about there!" HEE HEEHEEHEEHEEHEEENAHAAHEEHEEHEEHEEHEE!

HISTORY OF 4-WAY TEST

In 1932 during the Great Depression, the late Herbert J. Taylor, who was President of Rotary International during 1954-55, Rotary's 50th Anniversary year, developed the 4-Way Test and applied it to an ailing business. He credited the test...a simple 24 word statement of principles governing the things we think, say and do...with helping the business become profitable again.

Since that time, Rotary has adopted the 4-Way Test, and Rotarians everywhere have used the Test as a guide for their business, community and personal activities. (Via The Scandal Sheet) Amarillo, Texas. Rotary WHEELS
