SLEEPING WHEN THE WIND BLOWS
The story is told of a hired hand who applied for a job on a small farm in the mid-west. Briefly, he recounted his experience and qualifications. The farmer hesitated, then said: "I need someone with a sense of responsibility."

"I've always managed to sleep in peace when the wind blows," the man said. He did not explain what he meant, and the farmer did not ask him, but the phrase stuck in his mind. He hired the man on a we'll-see-how-things-work-out basis.

That same night the farmer was awakened by a howling storm. Fearful of the damage that might be caused by the high winds, he dressed quickly and went outside. Surprisingly, everything was secure and in order. The barn door was shut with an extra, improvised lock. Double lashings held down tarpaulins over the full hay wagon. There were no tools, no equipment lying around loose for wind and rain to damage. In his shed next to the barn the newly hired man was sleeping soundly. The farmer remembered: "I've always managed to sleep in peace when the wind blows." He knew then what the words meant. He knew he had found at last a man with a sense of responsibility. — Property

Talkative Us!

Psychologists estimate that each day, we are given some 700 chances to say something. Talkative people utter about 12,000 sentences every day, which averages out to about 100,000 words!

Are you making yours count?

"The cops chased me for eight years through 12 states and the District of Columbia, and now you ask me if I'm guilty or not?"

RESIGNATIONS.....Our membership regrets learning that CHUCK JACOBSON and GRAYDON STRICKLAND have resigned their membership with us due to their leaving this area for business reasons. GRAYDON joined the club in 1980 and was an active supporter of Rotary in many club programs. CHUCK joined in 1970 and during these past 14 years served as a Director, Vice-President and then President during the Rotary year of 1982-83. He chaired numerous committees and worked overtime during all of our SHRIMPOREE/AUCTION CHARITY BENEFITS. We will truly miss both these fine gentlemen and do hope they both quickly join a Rotary club in their new home surroundings. Also, we look forward to their future visits with us.
